The Problem

In the context of performance ads, different layouts have been implemented without clearly defined design guidelines. As a result, inconsistent ad formats, varying visual appearances, and deviations from brand standards have occurred.

The lack of binding layout specifications has led to:

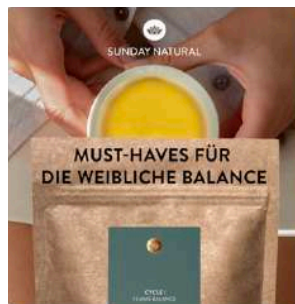

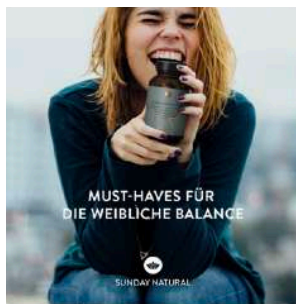

- Inconsistent brand perception
- Inconsistent placement of images and text
- Varying use of colors, fonts, and design elements
- Reduced campaign recognizability
- Inefficient coordination and approval processes

To ensure a consistent brand presence as well as efficient and scalable implementation of future performance ads, clear layout rules and binding design standards are required.

PERFORMANCE ADS

Collection of Ads that already existing

Sunday Natural currently does not yet have a defined CI guideline, but plans to launch its first performance campaigns in the near future. The goal is to develop a compact “Visual Guide” that provides creative direction for imagery, copy, and logo usage, and serves as a foundation for scalable Meta ads.

Objective “Visual Guide”

- Visual guardrails for performance ads
- A consistent, high-quality look and feel despite different creatives
- Strong focus on product, quality, and naturalness
- Transferability to additional Sunday Natural products

The visuals used serve exclusively for layout illustration and are not available for further use.
The focus is on the correct application of copy, logo, and claim within the defined design system.

Secondary Sunday Natural Colors

When in need to use other colors but Gray or the Sunday Gold and Silver, we would like to inspire you to use colors related to our products color palette. Please, don't use those colors if you CAN use our Primary Color Palette.

Since this is a Meta performance ad, Sunday Natural is clearly identifiable as the sender, the brand name is prominently visible, and the call-to-action leads directly to the respective landing page or product page of the advertised product.

For this reason, including a URL is not strictly necessary. Instead, we recommend integrating the True Clean Label logo. This strengthens trust in the brand, emphasizes the commitment to quality, and positively reinforces the perception of transparency and purity.

The primary logo is the gold brandmark. If its legibility is limited due to the image background, the white or black version may be used as an alternative.

It can, however, be appropriate to use the Sunday Natural logo if it supports the visual or the ad. The URL can also be integrated in certain cases.

LOGO POSITION

The different Meta Safe Zone guidelines can be found in the respective listed formats.

The brand mark is centered directly below the Safe Zone line.

The Sunday logo is placed—like the brand mark—centered along the upper boundary of the safe zone.

If a multipic is shown in an ad, the brand mark, sub-logos, and URL are placed either on the right or left, centered within the respective safe zone of the upper or lower visual.

When using an image-in-image, ensure that the brand mark has a spacing of half a logo size from the edge of the image.

Visual Worlds / look & feel:

Our visual worlds are tailored to each product. Products with the green label are presented in a “50 Shades of Green” environment, derived from the defined CI green tone. The look & feel for the Collagen product with pink packaging, on the other hand, follows the pink CI palette.

Our design grows directly from our brand and our products.

We rely on natural ingredients, free from artificial additives. Sunlight, shadow, colors, and materials are all pure, warm, and authentic. Brand, product, and design become one naturally.

Graphics / Line Usage:

For educational descriptions, lists, and similar content, lines help to structure and enhance readability. The line thickness is predefined and should be applied consistently.

GRAPHICAL ELEMENT

The Graphic elements always follow a clear design intention.

Badge Usage:

Badges are used to highlight key content such as new products, benefits, or prices. They are applied sparingly and intentionally to provide orientation and make relevant information quick and easy to grasp.

The placement of the badge is flexible, provided it never obscures the product or the copy.
